Blessed to Be a Dad

*"Children are a gift from the LORD;
they are a reward from him." Psalm 127:3*

I remember the day I first held my son in my arms. I waited patiently for nine months, wondering what it would be like to be a Dad. However, the months of contemplation and reflection did not truly prepare me for the moment I would hold my firstborn in my arms. It was a moment I remember with such clarity because it seemed as if the world stood still for a moment. I was excited, and at the same time had great fear. I was fearful because I knew I was entrusted with the most valuable gift in the world, namely, the gift of life.

Today, we honor fathers who recognize the great responsibility of being a Dad. God views teaching and training our children as one of the greatest responsibilities of fatherhood. Children are not obedient and respectful because they are commanded to be, but rather, because a loving and caring father trained them in God's ways and modeled that kind of life before them day after day.

My children are priceless, wonderful gifts given by my Heavenly Father. I have been privileged to help raise five wonderful children. I have poured into them, and they have blessed me. I am thankful to be a Dad, and celebrate today with all Fathers who are equally thankful.

Happy Fathers Day!
