Loving God by Loving Others

Jesus said the greatest commandment is to love God with all our heart, soul, and mind. But He didn't stop there. He also said: "Love your neighbor as yourself" (Matthew 22:39).

These two commands are deeply connected. We cannot say we love God if we don't love the people He created. When we show kindness, patience, and compassion, we reflect God's love.

Loving others is not always easy. Sometimes it means forgiving when we've been hurt or being patient when others fall short. It might look like helping someone in need, sharing a meal, or listening with care.

The Bible tells us the story of the Good Samaritan. A man was attacked by robbers and left half dead. Many passed by, but a Samaritan stopped, cared for him, and paid for his recovery. Jesus taught that this is a true neighbor: one who shows mercy.

This week, ask yourself: How can I show God's love to someone today? It may be a small act to you, but it can be big for them.

Let's be known as people who love God deeply and love others generously. In doing so, we honor the One who first loved us.
